Our production camps immerse the campers in all aspects of producing a musical, from designing the set, props, and costumes to learning the music, blocking, and choreography. After two weeks of hard work, the campers will have two public performances for the community. This camp is excellent for experienced performers and for children that have always wanted to participate in a show. Each camper will receive two complimentary tickets to the show.

Directed by Ryan Hewitt

Each day, we will focus on one design area so that your student can learn what goes into designing and building for the stage. The majority of the workshop will be spent in a hands-on learning environment in our scene shop & set storage, our prop room, tech world, costume storage, and anywhere else in the building we end up. We will be painting, working with saws and tools, building and crafting to help create the world of the Jungle Book, and campers will work on the crew for the performances of The Jungle Book on July 25 and participate in our 2nd Annual Tech Olympics. Directed by John F. Keenan
